into the trenching ground. Of course if, ignoring all these obstacles, any visitor gets himself into the trenching ground then there is no help for it. But if he keeps to the Cochin Alleppey road there is no chance of his ever getting a sight of the trenching ground. It is, Sir, possible to exaggerate things. If anybody is able to point out a better site then it could have been considered.

Mr. Shabdai S. Koder.—Is it not possible to introduce flush system in Mattancherri?

Mr. K. Achyuta Menon.—They are all larger questions and it cannot be considered now.

Mr. Popatlal Goverdhan Lalan.—Will the Government be prepared to accept any other site if any other gentleman or myself point out any other suitable sites?

Mr. President.—If the Hon'ble Member can point out some other sites then the Diwan Peishkar and the Director of Public Helath will look into it.
